RANK	PLAYER, POS, TEAM	NOTE
1	}Kevin Durant, SF, OKC	Westbrook injury has me caving to conventional wisdom, no way you can't go KD 1	http://basketball
2	}LeBron James, SF/PF, MIA	Still think an elite season coming, but can't question KD at 1 anymore.
3	James Harden, SG/SF, HOU	Easy to forget he was traded less than a week before 12-13 season.
4	Chris Paul, PG, LAC	Game's best PG, will be leaned on to do everything for Doc.
5	Stephen Curry, PG/SG, GS	A little worried about career ankle issues, no Jarrett Jack.
6	Serge Ibaka, PF/C, OKC	I'll reach, scored 4 more a game, developing deep shot, 57.3 FG% 12-13. Westbrook injury now has him a key scorer as well, but obviously doesn't move above the big 5.
7	Kyrie Irving, PG, CLE	The additional bigs should give Kyrie all sorts of room to drive and dish.
8	John Wall, PG, WAS	Love Wall, was a first-round talent in last two months of 12-13, healthy offseason.
9	Marc Gasol, C, MEM	Does everything, increased scoring with Gay gone in 2nd half 12-13.
10	Kevin Love, PF/C, MEM	First-round talent, injury downside. Slides into top-ten with Westbrook injury.	http://basketball
11	Derrick Rose, PG, CHI	I buy the perimeter game offseason work, excited for a really big season/big Asts. Looked good back on the court.
12	Paul George, SG/SF, IND	Love George as a player, think he's getting overhyped in fantasy.
13	Deron Williams, PG, BKN	A bit worried about recent ankle injury, will sink if lingers into preseason.
14	Ricky Rubio, PG, MIN	Another point I buy the improved perimeter game, fully recovered from ACL.
15	Al Horford, PF/C, ATL	Millsap is more efficient than Josh Smith, love Teague, big year for big Al.
16	Dwayne Wade, PG/SG, MIA	Career-high FG% in 12-13, another solid year ahead.
17	Al Jefferson, PF/C, CHA	Charlotte finally has a big, offense will run through him.
18	Damian Lillard, PG, POR	Buying offseason improvements, FG% to go up, big season.
19	Carmelo Anthony, SF/PF, NY	Elite scoring, sure, think boards go down and a little injury prone.

ALL PLAYERS
RANK	PLAYER, POS, TEAM	NOTE
20	Nicolas Batum, SG/SF, POR	Wrist injury a concern (no surgery), falling numbers and %s in second half scary. Played a lot of minutes in EuroBasket, has a bad back now.
21	LaMarcus Aldridge, PF/C, POR	Would move 5-6 spots up if guaranteed with POR all year - trade concerns. A tad gimpy right now.
22	Anthony Davis, PF/C, NO	Huge second half, lots of scorers coming in a slight concern.
23	Dirk Nowitzki, PF, DAL	After working his way back, elite Hall-of-Famer we're used to in 2nd half.
24	Ty Lawson, PG, DEN	No Gallinari, no Iguodala, will have to do it all.
25	Josh Smith, SF/PF, DET	Has opportunity, very volatile in his value.
26	Joakim Noah, PF/C, CHI	Injuries will be concerning, but very big year from Noah in 12-13, Rose = FG% up.
27	Larry Sanders, PF/C, MIL	GM calls him key to the team, contract extension in works, big year ahead.
28	Ersan Ilyasova, SF/PF, MIL	Easy to overlook he was coming off the bench before Skiles fired, huge 2nd half.
29	Tony Parker, PG, SA	Fire to win the title, elite when healthy.
30	Jeff Teague, PG, ATL	Will be on all my teams, Millsap will help efficiency, one of my big breakouts.	http://basketball
31	David Lee, PF/C, GS	Often underrated, not worried about the hip injury that's healed up.
32	Mike Conley, PG, MEM	Boosted scoring, assists, fewer TOs when Gay left.
33	Russell Westbrook, PG, OKC	Injury changes everything, don't like knee injury for guy that relies on explosiveness.
34	Pau Gasol, PF/C, LAL	Bye-bye Dwight, hello to old ways. Or would it be hola?
35	Nikola Vucevic, PF/C, ORL	Not only a double-double guy, 2 ast 1 stl 1 blk a game as well.
36	Dwight Howard, C, HOU	Probably won't end up on many of my teams, but upside is obviously still there.
37	Tim Duncan, PF/C, SA	Dream season last year, think he'll come close to duplicating going for title.
38	Paul Millsap, PF, ATL	Only 27, played only 30:26 a night last year, will flourish in ATL.
39	Brandon Jennings, PG, DET	Could be elite, could go 2-17 some nights. Another high risk/reward talent in DET.
40	Rudy Gay, SF/PF, TOR	Buying all things Raptors, solid multi-cat contributor.

ALL PLAYERS
RANK	PLAYER, POS, TEAM	NOTE
41	Kawhi Leonard, SG/SF, SA	Love him, love the multi-cat game, Yahoo at 24 seems extraordinarily high though.
42	Roy Hibbert, C, IND	Flashed elite big man potential in playoffs, extremely durable.
43	DeMarcus Cousins, PF/C, SAC	Still risky, one of fantasy's biggest high risk/reward picks yet again.
44	Blake Griffin, PF, LAC	Despite hardcore fantasy player's hate, there's still upside - but I won't reach.
45	Jeff Green, SF/PF, BOS	Huge, huge upside with extraordinary breakout potential.
46	Nikola Pekovic, C, MIN	Already great FG% that will go up with Love, dub-dub with stl/blk a night.
47	Kobe Bryant, SG, LAL	Could obviously move up with incoming optimistic news, rehab doing too well to be lower. Looking like he'll miss opening night, but not too much more action.
48	Jonas Valanciunas, C, TOR	If you've read me since last year, he's my #1 sleeper. Offense to run through him.
49	Chris Bosh, PF/C, MIA	Under-the-radar (at least to me) very productive 12-13 despite dwindling skill set/rebounding. Some further regression.
50	Derrick Favors, PF/C, UTA	The Jazz have a ton of faith in him, oozes potential/high block total.
51	Kemba Walker, PG, CHA	Lower than almost anywhere else, don't think Jefferson fixes bad FG%, low Asts.
52	Brook Lopez, C, BKN	Love his game, had him top-20 in May. Foot injury and big trade limits #s.
53	Monta Ellis, PG/SG, DAL	Excited to see him play with Dirk, should have a solid season, slight scoring dip.
54	Jrue Holiday, PG, NO	While #1 NO scorer/disher, I find myself never coming close to Jrue at original #42 rank in drafts thus far.
55	Greg Monroe, C, DET	Think Josh Smith/Jennings actually will help his fantasy value.	http://basketball
56	Trey Burke, PG, UTA	I'm still ready to take the big risk despite horrible Summer League showing.
57	Tobias Harris, SF/PF, ORL	My boyfriend from last year, flashed fantastic goodness in 2nd half. Will start.
58	Chandler Parsons, SF/PF, HOU	Fantastic 12-13, think he has another great, efficient season.
59	Paul Pierce, SF, BKN	Name value and new locale may have someone reach, Yahoo at 87 too low.
60	George Hill, PG/SG, IND	Quiet, unassuming, steady production.

ALL PLAYERS
RANK	PLAYER, POS, TEAM	NOTE
61	Eric Bledsoe, PG/SG, PHX	Flashed brilliance when starting, polarizing fantasy ranks, big upside.	http://basketball
62	)Jose Calderon, PG, DAL	I said in the original full rankings I needed to move him up, so I did.
63	Ryan Anderson, PF/C, NO	Despite new faces, don't think his role/numbers change much.
64	Klay Thompson, SG/SF, GS	I've seen him very overranked, ThrAGNOF!
65	Goran Dragic, PG, PHX	Still upside there, and despite a "bust" last year, still produced at this rank's level.
66	David West, PF, IND	Solid 12-13, another solid 13-14.
67	Zach Randolph, PF/C, MEM	Read West, David.
68	DeMar DeRozan, SG/SF, TOR	A big sleeper of mine, TOR a great line-up now, buying the offseason work on 3s.
69	Gerald Henderson, SG/SF, CHA	Back-to-back sleepers, Henderson showed elite production in 2nd half.
70	Thaddues Young, SF/PF, PHI	Someone has to score in Philly, right? Solid 12-13 as well, but not in love.
71	Rajon Rondo, PG, BOS	No need to rush him back in a big rebuilding year - despite him saying he's already mentally ready.
72	O.J. Mayo, SG, MIL	Will lead offensive attack for the Bucks, solid talent around him.
73	Bradley Beal, SG, WAS	Showed talent at times in rookie season, big injury concerns.
74	Luol Deng, SF, CHI	Trade/contract issues persist, but solid player and should be with Bulls all year.
75	Greivis Vasquez, PG/SG, SAC	Think there's multi-cat upside, but ankle injury and IT2 issues remain.
76	Andre Iguodala, SG/SF, DEN	Low floor/low ceiling, moves to another fast-paced team to duplicate 12-13 #s.
77	Jimmy Butler, SG/SF, CHI	A little surprised I'm higher on him than most, will start, multi-cat goodness.
78	J.R. Smith, SG/SF, NYK	Knee injury, suspension for smoking, but past those I'm fine with him here.
79	Kyle Lowry, PG, TOR	You know you're getting good production, but only when he's on the floor.
80	Gordon Hayward, SG/SF, UTA	Minutes, steals, assists up as 12-13 went on, TOs down, Jazz need consistency.
81	Marcin Gortat, C, PHX	Another guy from the Suns that was a semi-bust but still put up #s.
82	Danny Green, SG/SF, SA	Really underrated multi-cat season: 1.2 stl 0.7 blk 12-13 a little shocking.

ALL PLAYERS
RANK	PLAYER, POS, TEAM	NOTE
83	Enes Kanter, C, UTA	Big upside in starting role.
84	Wilson Chandler, SG/SF, DEN	Without Gallinari until probably February, Chandler a huge breakout candidate.
85	Brandon Knight, PG/SG, MIL	Still very young, think with actual talent around him could emerge.
86	Kenneth Faried, PF, DEN	Love the Manimal in real life, think his fantasy value can be a little overrated.
87	Jeremy Lin, PG, HOU	Some upside with reports he and Dwight looking good from the Dream, great Stls.
88	Wesley Matthews, SG/SF, POR	Don't see him playing 35 mins a night, even with rook McCollum to miss prolonged time.
89	JaVale McGee, C, DEN	Obvious upside with more minutes due to Karl firing, Shaq'n a Fool downside too.
90	Victor Oladipo, SG, ORL	Only other rookie in top 100, may start slow but I see bigger role in 2nd half.
91	Carlos Boozer, PF/C, CHI	One of my least favorite players, is actually going a bit underrated in 13-14.
92	Andre Drummond, PF/C, DET	Sure some upside, but 37.1 FT%? Really?
93	Raymond Felton, PG/SG, NY	Still driving a high-powered offense, think Beno Udrih eats into a few minutes.
94	Andrew Bogut, C, GS	Says he's healthy and expects big minutes, multi-cat performer, always injured...
95	Steve Nash, PG, LAL	39, numerous injuries last year, but still top 100 value.
96	Michael Kidd-Gilchrist, SF, CHA	People overrate a 19-yr old rookie season and write him off, multi-cat breakout.
97	Jamal Crawford, PG/SG, LAC	Will duplicate what we saw last year, which was top 100 worthy.
98	Spencer Hawes, C, PHI	Has the 1st half to prove worth until Noel gets minutes, out of position 3s nice.
99	Tyson Chandler, C, NY	Not a huge fan, injury prone and a wild card, but value has him crack 100.
100	Amir Johnson, PF/C, TOR	Despite probably a sub-10 PPG scorer, gave you 1 stl 1.4 blks last year.
101	Cody Zeller, PF/C, CHA	A surprise from Summer ball, there's upside playing next to Jefferson.
102	Isaiah Thomas, PG, SAC	An unreal second half, potential is there but stifled by new regime/Vasquez.
103	Chris Kaman, PF/C, LAL	Thrived when he's gotten starting minutes, will be vastly undervalued.
104	Kevin Garnett, PF/C, BKN	Kidd says he'll bench KG on back-to-backs, #s still there last year, down a bit this year.

RANK	PLAYER, POS, TEAM	NOTE
105	)Tyreke Evans, SG/SF, NO	Ankle dinged up after preseason injury, hate to draft him injured even with report he should make opening night.
106	Anderson Varejao, PF/C, CLE	The unreal rebounds are tough to ignore, but less minutes, Bynum = less value.
107	Kelly Olynyk, C, BOS	Minutes and opportunity are there, worth a slight bit of a reach to me.
108	Eric Gordon, SG, NO	Oh those knees... A great player when 100% healthy, but those days over.
109	Joe Johnson, SG/SF, BKN	Someone will reach for name value, scoring/3s down with all the options.
110	Jameer Nelson, PG, ORL	Oladipo to play some at point, everyone healthy right now, avoiding.
111	Andrew Bynum, C, CLE	Don't want him, knees hurt again, but still some upside. Yahoo @ 53 = nuts.
112	Danny Granger, SF, IND	Like Bynum, tough to rank and I won't be reaching for him - 2-10 in preseason opener.
113	Maurice Harkless, SF, ORL	Flashed multi-cat goodness with 1.2 stl/0.8 blk in only 25 minutes per game.
114	Andrei Kirilenko, SF/PF, BKN	Never been a huge fan, but will still get minutes behind elderly former Celtics.
115	Harrison Barnes, SF, GS	Potential has always been there, but becomes a 6th man with Iggy.
116	Arron Afflalo, SG/SF, ORL	Empty scoring, but still produces despite status with Magic in turmoil.
117	Shawn Marion, SF/PF, DAL	I don't buy a repeat, but Marion was huge last year under-the-radar.
118	Jarrett Jack, PG/SG, CLE	Wahhhhhh, I'm Jarrett Jack! Will find time at the 2 late in games.
119	Michael Carter-Williams, PG, PHI	The FG% will be terrible, but minutes and opportunity are there for the gamble.
120	J.J. Redick, SG, LAC	Limited upside, but should be able to replicate what he did with the Magic in 12-13.
121	Tristan Thompson, PF/C, CLE	Loved him before Bynum/Bennett/Clark brought in, Bynum hurt, TT could start.
122	)Reggie Jackson, PG, OKC	Sure he's only got the starting gig until Westbrook is back, but Jackson will still get minutes as Russell is eased back in and tremendous upside to start the year.
123	Kevin Martin, SG, MIN	Will score, but doesn't get to the line anymore, still doesn't do anything else.

ALL PLAYERS
RANK	PLAYER, POS, TEAM	NOTE
124	Randy Foye, PG/SG, DEN	Gallinari hurt, no Brewer, no Iggy, no Koufos, Denver will need scoring.
125	Ben McLemore, SG, SAC	Crowded backcourt, but they seem determined to play him, some upside.
126	Kyle Korver, SG/SF, ATL	Despite my reluctance to draft 3-point specialists, was solid in 12-13.
127	Dion Waiters, SG, CLE	Jack will take some minutes, a lot of new options on the Cavs.
128	)Corey Brewer, SG/SF, MIN	(two weeks ago)I just think he's better than Budinger or Shabazz, more multi-cat value than expected. (now) Budinger hurt, Brewer to start. Me likey.
129	Manu Ginobili, SG/SF, SA	Injuries and lower minutes of course lower value, but can still produce.
130	Evan Turner, SG/SF, PHI	I just thought he'd be a better NBA player and he's not, not buying new opportunity.
131	Tiago, Splitter, C, SA	Underrated multi-cat year, played 81 games, nice late stat booster.
132	0Martell Webster, SG/SF, WAS	Porter's hip injury lagging deeper than thought, Webster in line to get minutes in his stead. Wiz to ease Porter in when ready.
133	Anthony Bennett, SF/PF, CLE	Frontcourt is loaded, but loaded with injury-prone guys. Still won't reach for #1 pick. Showing conditioning problems recovering from off-season shoulder surgery.
134	Gerald Wallace, SF/PF, BOS	Will get minutes early, he's getting shopped, probably loses value on deadline deal as I doubt he gets traded into a big role.
135	Greg Stiemsma, C, NO	Going to start and get the Robin Lopez role, will block and can board better.
136	)Andrea Bargnani, PF/C, NYK	Apparently gelling well with Melo and Amar'e is still hurt. Not going to go nuts for him, but upside warrants the slight boost.
137	Nene Hilario, PF/C, WAS	Adds 3 dimes a game, but up there in age and not a guy I'm drafting earlier.
138	)Kentavious Caldwell-Pope, SG, DET	More and more glowing reports - could start and be a key shooter.
139	Metta World Peace, SF/PF, NY	Should play despite not playing under this name. Probably avoiding.
140	Brandan Wright, PF/C, DAL	Dalembert the de facto starter, but I see Wright getting upper 20 minutes a night.

ALL PLAYERS
RANK	PLAYER, POS, TEAM	NOTE
141	)Archie Goodwin, SG, PHX	The more I'm looking at guys below him, the more I have the rookie nookie urge to take Goodwin. 6th man role in team that will play him.
142	Ramon Sessions, PG/SG, CHA	Was on his way to a great 12-13 before a knee injury, should still see good mins.
143	Nick Young, SG/SF, LAL	Might be droppable after Kobe is back, but could have a strong start.
144	Alec Burks, SG, UTA	Will probably be undrafted in a lot of leagues, starting minutes gives him value.
145	John Henson, PF/C, MIL	Won't get boatloads of minutes, but his per/48 is fantastic and can contribute.
146	Iman Shumpert, SG/SF, NY	Returned from ACL surgery last year, could be solid after healthy offseason.
147	Nate Robinson, PG/SG, DEN	Not a fan, but will get some run as the 1/2 off the bench and is being reported he could play some with Lawson in shortest backcourt ever. Next they'll bring in Spud Webb.
148	Andre Miller, PG, DEN	Played in every game past 2 years, Nate Robinson steals the possible min. uptick.
149	Omer Asik, C, HOU	Huge loss of minutes, Dwight/Asik frontcourt would be worst FT% ever.
150	J.J. Hickson, PF/C, DEN	Behind Faried and McGee, will still get pretty solid minutes.
151	Lou Williams, PG/SG, ATL	Still recovering from the ACL, will be eased in, but still 2nd half upside.
152	Rodney Stuckey, SG, DET	Even if KCP starts, Stuckey will get minutes running the second unit and at times with starters.
153	Avery Bradley, PG/SG, BOS	You don't really want any of the Celtics guards, but they'll play.
154	Robin Lopez, C, POR	Looking like he'll start & could repeat 12-13 which has value even though he blows.
155	Marcus Thornton, SG, SAC	McLemore takes some of his value, a streamer ThrAGNOF when hot.
156	Trevor Ariza, SG/SF, WAS	Even with Porter lingering injury, don't think it changes Ariza's value all that much - boost went to Webster for me.
157	)Amar'e Stoudemire, PF/C, NY	Name value probably has him going earlier, not touching him.
158	Ray Allen, SG, MIA	ThrAGNOF!
159	Mario Chalmers, PG, MIA	He plays...

ALL PLAYERS
RANK	PLAYER, POS, TEAM	NOTE
160	Matt Barnes, SF, LAC	Really solid multi-cat 12-13, should be used similarly.
161	Tony Allen, SG/SF, MEM	Gives you the minutes, not any upside.
162	Lance Stephenson, SG, IND	Same as above.
163	Samuel Dalembert, C, DAL	Set to start, won't play huge minutes but will boost blocks.
164	Jared Dudley, SG/SF, LAC	Still see Barnes playing more minutes, but a chance to start on a good team.
165	Luis Scola, PF/C, IND	Relegated to the bench, still has efficient scoring upside.
166	Vince Carter, SG/SF, DAL	Unreal he's still playing, unreal the scoring/3s last year, still some value.
167	DeAndre Jordan, C, LAC	Strictly a guy for blocks and a handful of boards, the FT% destroys you.
168	Tayshaun Prince, SF/PF, MEM	Starts, gets minutes, will give you a tiny bit of scoring.
169	Thabo Sefolosha, SG/SF, DET	Steals specialist, not much else. Could boost a tad of scoring with no Westbrook for a while
170	Otto Porter, Jr., SF, WAS	Might take a while until we see consistent PT, hip injury recovery and will get eased in when ready, but upside in 2nd half.
171	Mo Williams, PG/SG, POR	Probably seeing the fewest minutes since a rookie, still will find time late in games.
172	Darren Collison, PG, LAC	Think he could see a tad of time at the 2, Bledsoe had value behind Paul too.
173	Carl Landry, SF/PF, SAC	Revolving door at the 4 for the Kings, I think Landry is most consistent.
174	Nerlens Noel, PF/C, PHI	Will get eased in, always a chance he has big last couple of months.
175	Mike Dunleavy, SG/SF, CHI	Minutes will come as the backup to Deng and Butler.
176	Kosta Koufos, PF/C, MEM	Was productive in only 22 minutes/per last year, will get 18-20 and a few boards.
177	Brandon Bass, PF/C, BOS	Unclear role with Humphries/Wallace stealing some minutes.
178	Courtney Lee, SG/SF, BOS	The steal a game gives him a little value in hodgepodge backcourt.
179	Markieff Morris, PF, PHX	Hey, he's starting. Deep leagues could do worse this late.
180	Glen Davis, PF/C, ORL	Hurt, probably misses opener, they're trying to dump him - 180 from my thoughts in May.

ALL PLAYERS
RANK	PLAYER, POS, TEAM	NOTE
181	Brandon Rush, SG, UTA	Burks is by no means a sure thing, could be a deep contributor.
182	Thomas Robinson, PF, POR	This deep, there's late-season upside if LA gets moved/hurt.
183	Patrick Patterson, PF/C, SAC	P Pat is stuck in that 3-man PF rotation with Landry/Jason Thompson.
184	Antawn Jamison, PF, LAC	He's old but can still score off the bench as a mid-week streamer.
185	Ed Davis, PF/C, MEM	Randolph is reliable but old, Davis showed potential with TOR in 1st half of 12-13.
186	]Caron Butler, SF, MIL	Delfino injury opens the door for some spot scoring, but his lack of other stats keeps him low for me.
187	)James Anderson, SG/SF, PHI	Interesting that he might start, and that's about it. Sixers look awful.
188	Alex Len, C, PHO	Coming off surgery on both ankles I don't think he's good even if Gortat is moved.
189	Shane Battier, SG/SF, MIA	When you're going this deep, it's gonna start getting ugly.
190	Jason Terry, PG/SG, BKN	Won't have much value unless Deron gets hurt, but very possible given history.
191	D.J. Augustin, PG, TOR	Not as good in fantasy as Terry, more likely Lowry gets hurt and D.J. gets mins.
192	Toney Douglas, PG/SG, GS	Can score off the bench in a fast-paced offense, Curry's ankles iffy.
193	DeMarre Carroll, SF/PF, ATL	I always thought he was underrated, will see decent minutes as reserve 2/3.
194	Greg Oden, C, MIA	Yeah if someone wants to draft him before here, go ahead.
195	Marco Belinelli, SG, SA	On the right team to throw up some ThrAGNOF streaming!
196	]Carlos Delfino, SG/SF, MIL	Probably missing the opener, doesn't need his foot too healthy to camp behind the three point line.
197	Wayne Ellington, SG, DAL	Another ThrAGNOF streamer, should get decent minutes for shots.
198	Marresse Speights, PF/C, GS	Think he's a better player than opportunities he's been given, works into mins.
199	Jermaine O'Neal, C, GS	Somehow managed 1.4 blks a game in 12-13 in 18 minutes per. Reported he might play some with Bogut.
200	Boris Diaw, PF/C, SA	Just so fun to say his name like Rick Flair, he had to be my Mr. Irrelevant!

26	79	Kyle Lowry, PG, TOR	You know you're getting good production, but only when he's on the floor.
27	85	Brandon Knight, PG/SG, MIL	Still very young, think with actual talent around him could emerge.
28	87	Jeremy Lin, PG, HOU	Some upside with reports he and Dwight looking good from the Dream, great Stls.
29	93	Raymond Felton, PG/SG, NY	Still driving a high-powered offense, think Beno Udrih eats into a few minutes.
30	95	Steve Nash, PG, LAL	39, lots of injuries last year, but still top 100 value.
31	97	Jamal Crawford, PG/SG, LAC	Will duplicate what we saw last year, which was top 100 worthy.
32	102	Isaiah Thomas, PG, SAC	An unreal second half, potential is there but stifled by new regime/Vasquez.
33	110	Jameer Nelson, PG, ORL	Oladipo to play some at point, everyone healthy right now, avoiding.
34	118	Jarrett Jack, PG/SG, CLE	Wahhhhhh, I'm Jarrett Jack! Will find time at the 2 late in games.
35	119	Michael Carter-Williams, PG, PHI	The FG% will be terrible, but minutes and opportunity are there for the gamble.
37	124	Randy Foye, PG/SG, DEN	Gallinari hurt, no Brewer, no Iggy, no Koufos, Denver will need scoring.
38	141	Ramon Sessions, PG/SG, CHA	Was on his way to a great 12-13 before a knee injury, should still see good mins.
39	146	Nate Robinson, PG/SG, DEN	Not a fan, but will get some run as the 1/2 off the bench and is being reported he could play some with Lawson in shortest backcourt ever. Next they'll bring in Spud Webb.

47	140	Brandan Wright, PF/C, DAL	Dalembert the de facto starter, but I see Wright getting upper 20 minutes a night.
48	145	John Henson, PF/C, MIL	Won't get boatloads of minutes, but his per/48 is fantastic and can contribute.
49	150	J.J. Hickson, PF/C, DEN	Behind Faried and McGee, will still get pretty solid minutes.
50	157	)Amar'e Stoudemire, PF/C, NY	Name value probably has him going earlier, not touching him.
51	165	Luis Scola, PF/C, IND	Relegated to the bench, still has efficient scoring upside.
52	168	Tayshaun Prince, SF/PF, MEM	Starts, gets minutes, will give you a tiny bit of scoring.
53	173	Carl Landry, SF/PF, SAC	Revolving door at the 4 for the Kings, I think Landry is most consistent.
54	174	Nerlens Noel, PF/C, PHI	Will get eased in, always a chance he has big last couple of months.
55	176	Kosta Koufos, PF/C, MEM	Was productive in only 22 minutes/per last year, will get 18-20 and a few boards.
56	177	Brandon Bass, PF/C, BOS	Unclear role with Humphries/Wallace stealing some minutes.
57	179	Markieff Morris, PF, PHX	Hey, he's starting. Deep leagues could do worse this late.
58	180	Glen Davis, PF/C, ORL	Hurt, probably misses opener, they're trying to dump him - 180 from my thoughts in May.
59	182	Thomas Robinson, PF, POR	This deep, there's late-season upside if LA gets moved/hurt.
60	183	Patrick Patterson, PF/C, SAC	P Pat is stuck in that 3-man PF rotation with Landry/Jason Thompson.

PF

POS RANK	OVERALL RANK	PLAYER, POS, TEAM	NOTE
61	184	Antawn Jamison, PF, LAC	He's old but can still score off the bench as a mid-week streamer.
62	185	Ed Davis, PF/C, MEM	Randolph is reliable but old, Davis showed potential with TOR in 1st half of 12-13.
63	193	DeMarre Carroll, SF/PF, ATL	I always thought he was underrated, will see decent minutes as reserve 2/3.
64	198	Marresse Speights, PF/C, GS	Think he's a better player than opportunities he's been given, works into mins.
65	200	Boris Diaw, PF/C, SA	Just so fun to say his name like Rick Flair, he had to be my Mr. Irrelevant!

C

POS RANK	OVERALL RANK	PLAYER, POS, TEAM	NOTE
1	6	Serge Ibaka, PF/C, OKC	I'll reach, scored 4 more a game, developing deep shot, 57.3 FG% 12-13. Westbrook injury now has him a key scorer as well, but obviously doesn't move above the big 5.
2	9	Marc Gasol, C, MEM	Does everything, increased scoring with Gay gone in 2nd half 12-13.
3	10	Kevin Love, PF/C, MEM	First-round talent, injury downside.
4	15	Al Horford, PF/C, ATL	Millsap is more efficient than Josh Smith, love Teague, big year for big Al.
5	17	Al Jefferson, PF/C, CHA	Charlotte finally has a big, offense will run through him.
6	21	LaMarcus Aldridge, PF/C, POR	Would move 5-6 spots up if guaranteed with POR all year - trade concerns. A tad gimpy right now.
7	22	Anthony Davis, PF/C, NO	Huge second half, lots of scorers coming in a slight concern.
8	26	Joakim Noah, PF/C, CHI	Injuries will be concerning, but very big year from Noah in 12-13, Rose = FG% up.
9	27	Larry Sanders, PF/C, MIL	GM calls him key to the team, contract extention in works, big year ahead.
10	31	David Lee, PF/C, GS	Often underrated, not worried about the hip injury that's healed up.
11	34	Pau Gasol, PF/C, LAL	Bye-bye Dwight, hello to old ways. Or would it be hola?
12	35	Nikola Vucevic, PF/C, ORL	Not only a double-double guy, 2 ast 1 stl 1 blk a game as well.
13	36	Dwight Howard, C, HOU	Probably won't end up on many of my teams, but upside is obviously still there.
14	37	Tim Duncan, PF/C, SA	Dream season last year, think he'll come close to duplicating going for title.
15	42	Roy Hibbert, C, IND	Flashed elite big potential in playoffs, extremely durable.
16	43	DeMarcus Cousins, PF/C, SAC	Still risky, one of fantasy's biggest high risk/reward picks yet again.
17	46	Nikola Pekovic, C, MIN	Already great FG% that will go up with Love, dub-dub with stl/blk a night.
18	48	Jonas Valanciunas, C, TOR	If you've read me since last year, he's my #1 sleeper. Offense to run through him.
19	49	Chris Bosh, PF/C, MIA	Under-the-radar (at least to me) very productive 12-13 despite dwindling skill set/rebounding. Some further regression.
20	50	Derrick Favors, PF/C, UTA	The Jazz have a ton of faith in him, oozes potential/high block total.

C

POS RANK	OVERALL RANK	PLAYER, POS, TEAM	NOTE
21	52	Brook Lopez, C, BKN	Love his game, had him top-20 in May. Foot injury and big trade limits #s.
22	55	Greg Monroe, C, DET	Think Josh Smith/Jennings actually will help his fantasy value.
23	63	Ryan Anderson, PF/C, NO	Despite new faces, don't think his role/numbers change much.
24	67	Zach Randolph, PF/C, MEM	While he's up there in age, reliability keeps him this valuable to me.
25	81	Marcin Gortat, C, PHX	Another guy from the Suns that was a semi-bust but still put up #s.
26	83	Enes Kanter, C, UTA	Big upside in starting role.
27	89	JaVale McGee, C, DEN	Obvious upside with more minutes due to Karl firing, Shaqtin a Fool downside too.
28	91	Carlos Boozer, PF/C, CHI	One of my least favorite players, is actually going a bit underrated in 13-14.
29	92	Andre Drummond, PF/C, DET	Sure some upside, but 37.1 FT%? Really?
30	94	Andrew Bogut, C, GS	Says he's healthy and expects big minutes, multi-cat performer, always injured...
31	98	Spencer Hawes, C, PHI	Has the 1st half to prove worth until Noel gets minutes, out of position 3s nice.
32	99	Tyson Chandler, C, NY	Not a huge fan, injury prone and a wild card, but value has him crack 100.
33	100	Amir Johnson, PF/C, TOR	Despite probably a sub-10 PPG scorer, gave you 1 stl 1.4 blks last year.
34	101	Cody Zeller, PF/C, CHA	A surprise from Summer ball, there's upside playing next to Jefferson.
35	103	Chris Kaman, PF/C, LAL	Thrived when he's gotten starting minutes, will be vastly undervalued.
36	104	Kevin Garnett, PF/C, BKN	Kidd says he'll bench KG on back-to-backs, #s still there last year, down a bit.
37	106	Anderson Varejao, PF/C, CLE	The unreal rebounds are tough to ignore, but less minutes, Bynum = less value.
38	107	Kelly Olynyk, C, BOS	Minutes and opportunity are there, worth a slight bit of a reach to me.
39	111	Andrew Bynum, C, CLE	Don't want him, knees hurt again, but still some upside. Yahoo @ 53 = nuts.
40	121	Tristan Thompson, PF/C, CLE	Loved him before Bynum/Bennett brought in, Bynum hurt, TT could start.
41	131	Tiago Splitter, C, SA	Underrated multi-cat year, played 81 games, nice late stat booster.
42	135	Greg Stiemsma, C, NO	Going to start and get the Robin Lopez role, will block and can board better.

C

POS RANK	OVERALL RANK	PLAYER, POS, TEAM	NOTE
43	136	)Andrea Bargnani, PF/C, NYK	Apparently gelling well with Melo and Amar'e is still hurt. Not going to go nuts for him, but upside warrants the slight boost.
44	137	Nene Hilario, PF/C, WAS	Adds 3 dimes a game, but up there in age and not a guy I'm drafting earlier.
45	140	Brandan Wright, PF/C, DAL	Dalembert the de facto starter, but I see Wright getting upper 20 minutes a night.
46	145	John Henson, PF/C, MIL	Won't get boatloads of minutes, but his per/48 is fantastic and can contribute.
47	149	Omer Asik, C, HOU	Huge loss of minutes, Dwight/Asik frontcourt would be worst FT% ever.
48	150	J.J. Hickson, PF/C, DEN	Behind Faried and McGee, will still get pretty solid minutes.
49	154	Robin Lopez, C, POR	Looking like he'll start & could repeat 12-13 which has value even though he blows.
50	157	)Amar'e Stoudemire, PF/C, NY	Name value probably has him going earlier, not touching him.
51	163	Samuel Dalembert, C, DAL	Set to start, won't play huge minutes but will boost blocks.
52	165	Luis Scola, PF/C, IND	Relegated to the bench, still has efficient scoring upside.
53	167	DeAndre Jordan, C, LAC	Strictly a guy for blocks and a handful of boards, the FT% destroys you.
54	174	Nerlens Noel, PF/C, PHI	Will get eased in, always a chance he has big last couple of months.
55	176	Kosta Koufos, PF/C, MEM	Was productive in only 22 minutes/per last year, will get 18-20 and a few boards.
56	177	Brandon Bass, PF/C, BOS	Unclear role with Humphries/Wallace stealing some minutes.
57	180	Glen Davis, PF/C, ORL	Hurt, probably misses opener, they're trying to dump him - 180 from my thoughts in May.
58	183	Patrick Patterson, PF/C, SAC	P Pat is stuck in that 3-man PF rotation with Landry/Jason Thompson.
59	185	Ed Davis, PF/C, MEM	Randolph is reliable but old, Davis showed potential with TOR in 1st half of 12-13.
60	188	Alex Len, C, PHO	Coming off surgery on both ankles I don't think he's good even if Gortat is moved.
61	194	Greg Oden, C, MIA	Yeah if someone wants to draft him before here, go ahead.
62	198	Marresse Speights, PF/C, GS	Think he's a better player than opportunities he's been given, works into mins.
